Football in World cup knockout match goes on for 90 minutes + 30 minutes extra time. Usually the same portion of time is always spent on non-game activities
*Extra time is given only if a game ends
in tie Therefore, the team referee is allowed to let the game continue even after full time is over It's called "Loss time",
"Lost time", and "Injury time"
in basic but just some minutes but

Tae-Yang !
Over here !
Hey !
Park Ji-Hun (28)
A retired international footballer.
He was known for his explosive pace. Spent his last 2 seasons with PC Deluxe and became a coach afterwards.

It's been years !

And you are losing more hair every time I see you.

Koo Tae-Yong (Si)
Used to play in Bora A and Jeju 1. He was once proclaimed to be the best future player after being invited to 1 SQ's summer camp. However, his career has drastically retired.

What did you call me out for ?

Phew~ ! Straight to the point, eh?

You know that I am a coach at FC Dalian, don't you ?

Yeah, yes played and retired there.

Having experienced first hand, I must say Chinese super league is growing fast. It's not quite there yet though

They now have promotion and relegation and are actively trying to improve quality of the league.

Yeah?.. Good luck

Hey, come to the club

Start over in China

I know you had some rough times, getting scorned by your agent and your GF dumping you

But enough of being lost. Come to me and just focus on playing.

You done? I am leaving

Hey !

2006, World cup in Germany's round 16.

Do you know why I swiped that cross to you in the dying moment ?

If had... this gut feeling that you'll produce at that moment

If it's you ... If it's Koo Tae-Yang.

No matter how hard and bad it was, you were a type of player we and the fans expected a miracle from.

After all, you were the ace.

SFX. Grr

Enough already ! China?! Me ?!

What's the point of me being there ?!

To show the world how far I've fallen ?!

No !!!

I am not expecting you to achieve anything in China.

Just because the media and fans gave up on you, it doesn't mean you need to stop playing.

Yes, you are in twilight of your career

But it's not over yet. Something could still happen.

We will hold a press conference 2 weeks later

TAEYANG
